Listen & Learn

We review your project needs, desires, and goals with your team. Our engineers and technical staff will visit your facilities to evaluate existing building systems and infrastructure. This approach assures that you get what you want.

Report & Recommend

Based on our detailed inspection and consultation with your staff we recommend a preliminary project design. Regardless of the project size, our designs compare cost versus benefit by analyzing installation costs, energy efficiency, system performance, operations, maintenance, and equipment reliability.

Design & Develop

Our engineers develop a final project design that provides the greatest benefit at the least cost. Specific trade subcontractors are reviewed and selected to perform the installation.

Service & Handing Over

We are committed to delivering quality service and equipment. Our construction managers are on-site throughout construction to guarantee all installations are completed safely, according to schedule, and with excellent workmanship.

Construct & Commission

White Arch assumes the role of prime contractor, providing a dedicated construction manager to handle all the activities associated with successful project implementation.
